

Few Things about India in terms of Sustainability

With more than quarter of Indian population living below poverty line, with problems like malnutrition, social conditions have a vital role to play

With high power difference, India has high inequalities among people with regards to wealth

Being a collective culture, works done by individuals is mostly depended on family, society and government (opportunities). This perception of individuality is slowly changing in middle class people.

Indian with strong culture and religion impact people behavior is a masculine count

With high acceptance for perfection and imperfection, uncertainty index is moderate.

